1. APPROVAL OF THE PROPOSAL. Once approved by the client, the general terms and conditions of sale and where applicable the terms of a proposal or quotation, including all schedules, and the terms and conditions of sale specifically related to production services, form a binding contract between LUQIA and the client (the "Agreement"). Client's issuance of a purchase order will constitute conclusive evidence client's unconditional acceptance of the Agreement. The Agreement alone will govern the order, purchase, and provision of the products and services described in the Agreement, and will prevail over any inconsistent, modifying, and/or supplemental terms contained in any order forms sent by the client or any similar documents. Such terms are hereby rejected and deemed null and void. LUQIA's failure to object to such terms does not constitute a waiver of or agreement to the client's terms and conditions by LUQIA.

Any comments and opinions in the report are based solely on LUQIA's scientific and technical expertise in the fields of optics, photonics, image processing, and imaging systems. In addition, LUQIA cannot guarantee that the patent searches it conducts in connection with the work related to that report are exhaustive or complete and that no important patent documents have been overlooked. Furthermore, the client acknowledges that the databases used to carry out such searches are subject to certain restrictions and may contain errors. The client therefore uses the report at its own risk. The report is strictly confidential and was prepared solely at the client's request and for its benefit. The client agrees that scope of work and the authorized amount may vary through the Agreement with its prior written approval, including the issuance by client of a new purchase order to LUQIA.
11. ESTIMATE. All estimates in the Agreement are for information only and do not legally bind LUQIA.
12. FLUCTUATION IN CUSTOMS DUTIES. The prices indicated in the quotation/proposal are determined according to the customs duties relating to the consumables used in the products and/or services supplied by LUQIA. The Client agrees that in the event of the imposition of new or additional customs duty(ies) by the competent authorities or if the existing rates are increased after the date of the quotation/proposal, LUQIA shall have the right to modify and adjust the prices accordingly. In such cases, the applicable rate will be the rate of the new resource (or personnel), it being understood that, except for services rendered on time and materials basis, such a substitution will not change the total cost of the products or services unless the client has accepted a written adjustment of the total cost.
- 17. - 33. INDEPENDENCE OF THE PARTIES. The parties agree that they are independent businesses and that the Agreement does not create an agency, joint venture, employer-employee, or corporate relationship between them. The client acknowledges that it may not enter into any agreements or assume any obligations on LUQIA's behalf, and may not in any way commit to LUQIA's assumption of liability.
- 34. NOTICE. All notices related to the Agreement must be given in writing and sent by email, registered mail or personal delivery, or any other method that makes proof of receipt possible. All notices to LUQIA must be sent to the attention of Sales and Contract with a copy by email at contrats.contracts@ino.ca.

D-1, and is registered in the Controlled Goods Program (CGP). If the services fall within the CGP's scope, the client must inform LUQIA of this fact. LUQIA may request information in this regard and verify whether or not the client is duly registered in the CGP. Failure to comply with CGP rules may affect the performance of the services and may be deemed a breach of the Agreement.

- 36. EXPORT LICENSE. Where applicable, the client must indicate the end use of the services or products so that LUQIA may complete its application with the Canadian government to sell services or products that require an export license.
- 37. REGULATORY REQUIREMENTS. The client is solely liable for all regulatory certifications. The client will not use the product prior to obtain all the required certifications.
- 38. LUQIA will cooperate with client and provide all information, upon written confirmation from client that LUQIA's efforts will be compensated at the then LUQIA's annual rates.
- 39. PUBLICITY. So that LUQIA may publicly promote its activities and expertise, the client will allow LUQIA to publicly disclose, through press releases, announcements, presentations, or other means including on its web site, the following services-related information: the client's name, the title and subject of the services, the field of technology, the planned applications, the price, and the duration of the services. LUQIA agrees to submit all draft publicity to the client for approval before publication.
- 40. INFORMATION SHARING. LUQIA must report on some of its research and development activities to the governments of Canada and Quebec, and may therefore send them information such as the client's name and contact information and the nature of the services provided to it.
- 41. GOVERNING LAW. The Agreement is governed and will be interpreted according to the laws in effect in the province of Quebec. The parties expressly agree to exclude application of the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods (1980). Any dispute or disagreement related to the Agreement, its execution, or its interpretation may be submitted to the general law courts sitting in the judicial district of Quebec.
- 42. INTERPRETATION. The Agreement's section titles are inserted solely to make the Agreement easier to read and may not be used to interpret it. The provisions of the Agreement are all separate and distinct, such that the invalidity of one does not affect the validity of the others, which will remain in full force and effect.
- 43. SURVIVAL. All of the provisions or obligations in the Agreement that, by their nature, must survive the Agreement's termination or cancellation will remain in effect after such termination or cancellation.
- 44. MODIFICATION. Any amendment or modification of the Agreement must be made in writing and agreed to by each party. Where applicable, an amendment or modification made in this way will take effect on the day it is added to the Agreement.
- 45. FORCE MAJEURE. Except for the obligation to pay when payment is due hereunder, if either party fails to perform its obligations because of a force majeure event, that party's obligations will be suspended for as long as the force majeure event prevents or delays that party's performance. Force majeure means a party's inability to perform any of its obligations due to circumstances beyond its control that are caused by an unforeseeable and uncontrollable event through no fault of the party, including but not limited to any state of war, civil disturbance, quarantine, fire, flood, storm, earthquake, pandemic, strike; death, incapacity or resignation of key employee; intervention by a national or foreign government agency, explosion, or act of God. For the avoidance of doubt, the COVID-19 pandemic, the supply chain disruption and the rapid changes they are causing may constitute a force majeure event, and LUQIA therefore reserves the right to modify the delivery schedule of the Agreement. A party that fails to perform its obligations hereunder due to a force majeure event must immediately send written notice of such inability to perform to the other party. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a party may terminate the Agreement vis-à-vis the party that is affected by a force majeure event by giving that party 20 days' written notice if the force majeure event persists for more than 30 days, or if during that time, performance of the obligations was not reasonably restarted within the 20 days thereafter.
- 46. LANGUAGE. LUQIA and client acknowledge that they have requested and agreed that the Agreement and all its related terms, conditions and documents be drawn up in English. LUQIA et le client reconnaissent par la présente disposition qu'ils ont convenu que le Contrat ainsi que toutes les conditions et documents liés soient rédigés en anglais.
